Chief, FBIB

Collection Request No. 7053.1

1. FBIB has no knowledge of a Greek rebel broadcasting station located in Bulgaria or Rumania. The known Greek rebel station, naming itself originally "Greek Democratic Army Radio" and later "Free Greece Radio", was located prior to the Cominform rift near Belgrade, according to bearings and other information in the possession of UNSCOB. (See messages Salonika to State 2 and 8 April 1948, control numbers 949 and 2934.)

2. After the Yugoslav party was expelled from the Cominform, there were rumors that the station had been moved to Albania, and new bearings were taken. FBIB has not seen the results of these bearings.

3. FBIB would be interested in the information requested. Presumably both Army and Navy have direction-finding equipment sufficiently dispersed to take accurate bearings.
